Theatre 3, Health Sciences Centre

The grant strategy stars, along with special appearances by the research acting cast, will lead a one-act dramedy to provide a behind-the-scenes glimpse of the grant review process through the lens of the CIHR review committee. Within the context of the dramedy, the actors will conduct a review of two different grants and emulate the actual committee review format.

The actors will take on character roles of committee members to demonstrate various critique methods, triage models and role dynamics that contribute to consensus feedback. The dramedy will open the discussion on committee considerations, feedback and how the review process can impact grant funding decisions. An audience Q&A will follow the dramedy and panel discussion.
